December 2007.

So quickly yet another year has rolled around. We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their continued support of Yunca and our products over the past year.

There is continued interest and demand for Yunca solid fuel fires. Our visits to shows and promotional venues have confirmed that our customers still require a cross section of heating alternatives, which Yunca can provide.

Here at Yunca we have strived to keep ahead of regulation changes. All current Yunca Woodburners (Wegj and Hobson) maintain the Sub 1.0 clean air standard. The new Fitzroy has been tested to sub 1.0 clean air standards, and we await an approval number.

Yunca Gas fires too have enjoyed a good season.

Fuzzy Logic control on the FUZION and Leedz continue to be very well received. This year the entis inbuilt glass fronted fire has proved to be a popular addition to the Fuzzy Logic range.

Success of the Fuzzy Logic range has been down to a number of features. In particular the battery back up system that allows the fire to operate when power is not available has proven invaluable to many customers. The Fuzzy Logic control on the fire has also shown to use considerably less gas than traditional thermostat controls, resulting in a more economical heating option.

The Allure Gas Open Fire series is a most versatile fire with a number of choices available to suit any situation. In February 2008 we will begin to roll out the STAINLESS STEEL fascia option. This will be available on both the indoor and outdoor 730 and 930 models, www.yunca.co.nz will be updated soon.

- Three sizes (630, 730, 930)
- Inbuilt or freestanding into an optional cabinet.
